APRU Asia-Pacific Student Leaders Forum

8-10 June 2015
National University of Singapore

With the theme of "Beyond the Ivory Tower: University Social Responsibility", the Asia-Pacific Student Leaders Forum (APSLF) 2015 will focus on various social issues such as education, unemployment, poverty and income inequality, gender, youth and ageing population, environmental issues and health, among others.

Students and University Administrators are invited!

University administrators at APRU institutions who are in-charge of or engaged in student affairs and student leadership activities are invited to the forum.   Administrators will have an opportunity to mentor students from across the region, and exchange views and share best practices with peers on deepening student engagement and how universities can further enhance the leadership development of students.

APRU student leaders at the undergraduate level will have the opportunity to discuss and propose ways of addressing pertinent issues in the Asia-Pacific region. Students who would like to lead discussions during the unconference sessions (informal group sessions) can submit their proposals online by 10 May at http://tinyurl.com/apslf2015unconf.

Register here!

Interested participants can register at http://tinyurl.com/apslf2015registration till 31 March. The registration fee is waived for all participants.

What's in the program?

Plenary sessions and keynote addresses by social entrepreneurs, innovators and policy makers from Singapore and overseas are key features of the APSLF.   The latest preliminary program and more information can be found in the APSLF Registration Booklet.
